

The presentation will cover maintenance of Defence aviation platforms at Main Operating Bases and abroad, including the regulatory considerations. It will cover historical Industry support to Defence through to the current day, projections into the future, and how aviation safety regulation of maintenance and maintainer licensing influences available options. Lastly, the presentation will touch on FVEYS initiatives aimed at improving deployed interoperability by using foreign military maintenance workforce on common aircraft types.